PRESENTATION BY THE DIA
Julie McFarland presented the 2018 Year End Report and reviewed the categories in the service agreement. Teri John discussed school programs indicating the importance to co-create professional development workshops with educators. This will confirm the DIA is meeting current needs in the classroom. There has been steady growth in field trip attendance since 2013, but would like to encourage field trips to expand throughout the year. Don questioned if reminders were sent out to various groups to welcome them back. Reminders are sent and there is approximately a 30% return rate at this time. Reminders and evaluations are submitted to teachers after field trips. Surveys are distributed at senior field trips and the outcome is reviewed as part of the communication plan. DIA away has reached its final contract year. Another type of art experience program will be considered.

Salvador introduced upcoming exhibits. Camelot to Kent State is showcasing art from 1960–1975 and will run through August 25, 2019. Play Ball at the DIA will return this year. This exhibit will go back in time to the Detroit Wolverines Baseball team and will include baseball cards and other memorabilia. A trophy from this era was received by the DIA in the 1940’s and is being displayed at the Detroit Historical Museum. It will possible return to the DIA for display during this event. Highlight of the summer will be the Humble and Human Exhibit, followed by the Detroit Collects: Selections of African American Art from Private Collections and the Magical World of Bruegel.

There will be groundbreaking exhibitions in 2020. An exhibition in car design will be held in the contemporary galleries with 12 cars designed and made in Detroit (4-Ford, 4-GM, 4-Chrysler). This exhibit will show the process of car design – sketch to the building of the car. Also, 20th century works of art in response to the automotive industry.

Sixty works of art by Van Gogh will be displayed in 2020.

OTHER BUSINESS
Pam and Jennifer researched meetings and found no end date associated with Don and Lillian. Ed Bruley recommended that we should not have an endless term. Suggested that a time frame of a 3 year term with 2 reappointments. Also suggested staggering terms.

Ed Bruley brought up the challenge of getting the public to the DIA for the first time. Ideas were discussed.

Next meeting date not confirmed. Looking at September 10 or 17.
